1. Introduction

2. Methodology

The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The participants were recruited from a local university and were assigned to two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The control group received a standard intervention, while the experimental group received a modified intervention. The data was collected over a period of six weeks. The results showed that the experimental group had significantly higher scores than the control group. This suggests that the modified intervention is more effective than the standard one. The study was limited by a small sample size and a short duration. Future research should include a larger sample and a longer follow-up period to confirm the findings.
